

Assignment: Transforming Raw Notes into a Polished Blog Post

Scenario

A company is launching a new AI-powered Study Assistant that helps college students organize their studies, understand difficult topics, and prepare for exams.

Raw Notes

- AI Study Assistant for college students
- Helps students create personalized study plans
- Explains difficult concepts in simple language
- Generates practice questions and quizzes
- Tracks learning progress
- Helps students identify weak subjects
- Available 24/7
- Saves students' time
- Useful during exam preparation
- Designed to make learning more organized and effective

Step 1: Structuring & Planning

Task: Extract the 3 main benefits and create a structured outline for a 500-word blog post.

Three Main Benefits:

1. Personalized study planning
2. Simple explanations and practice
3. Progress tracking and identifying weak areas

Blog Outline:

- Introduction
- Personalized Study Plans
- Understand Difficult Topics Easily
- Practice and Track Your Progress
- Benefits During Exam Preparation
- Conclusion / Call to Action

Step 2: Drafting

Write a first draft of a blog post about the AI Study Assistant using only the outline above.

Constraints:

4. Keep the tone enthusiastic but professional.
5. Use short paragraphs with a maximum of 3 sentences each.
6. Do not exceed 500 words.
7. Include a placeholder for an image.
8. End with a suitable Call to Action.

Expected Output: A complete blog post following the outline and all given constraints.

Step 3: Critique & Refinement – Mandatory Gate

Review the draft against the following checklist:

9. Is the blog post within the 500-word limit?
10. Does it clearly explain the 3 main benefits?
11. Are all paragraphs a maximum of 3 sentences?
12. Is there a clear Call to Action at the end?
13. Does the content follow the original outline?

First, provide a bulleted self-critique identifying any problems. Second, provide the final corrected version of the blog post that fixes all identified problems.
